

Filing

Overview

BRC's filing system comes in different styles and sizes to fit any office space. Our lateral files is one of a few different types of file cabinet and is differentiated from its vertical counterpart by its short and wide build. The shape allows for lateral files to hold more documents than other types of file cabinets and makes it more versatile in general.

They come with standard with locks with hanging bars inside, and they have a safety interlock systems. We also offer counterweight for a majority of our lateral files which avoids tipping when opening the drawers.
